Every child deserves to begin the school year with confidence. Yet, for many children from families affected by leprosy, even a notebook, a school bag or a hygiene kit is beyond their family's reach.

With the generous support of South India Children's Education and Welfare Trust (SICEWT), UK, Chaitanya Kala Bharathi was able to reach 55 children from families affected by leprosy. Through this support, the children received essential educational materials and hygiene supplies, enabling them to continue their education with greater confidence and dignity.

Project Objective

The project aimed to provide educational support to school-going children and hygiene support to girl students studying from 7th to 12th standard. The intention was to encourage children to continue their education with dignity and confidence.

The Kit

The kit distributed to these students included a total of 14 items. All the items were common for the identified children, except the Hygiene pads which were given to the girl students only. A total of 12 packets, which will be adequate to use for a period of one year were given to them.

The Impact

The project was originally designed to support fifty children. However, due to the careful utilisation of the sanctioned budget, support was extended to fifty-five children without any additional financial requirement.

Through this initiative, fifty-five children—including twenty-two boys and thirty-three girls—received educational materials, school bags and essential hygiene supplies, enabling them to continue their education with greater confidence and dignity.

Our Gratitude

On behalf of the beneficiary children and their families, CKB expresses its gratitude to the South India Children's Education and Welfare Trust, United Kingdom for your generous support and continued trust in our mission.

Thank you for believing that every child deserves an opportunity to learn with dignity. Thank you for standing with families who continue to face social and economic challenges. Most of all, thank you for bringing hope to fifty-five young lives. Together... we are nurturing hope... one child at a time.
